IT'S A MACHINE TO TRANSPORT PEOPLE AT THE MOMENT OF DEATH TO ANOTHER SPACE.

MY #1 FAVORITE MOVIE
DIE HARD

I'm sure you know this movie very well.

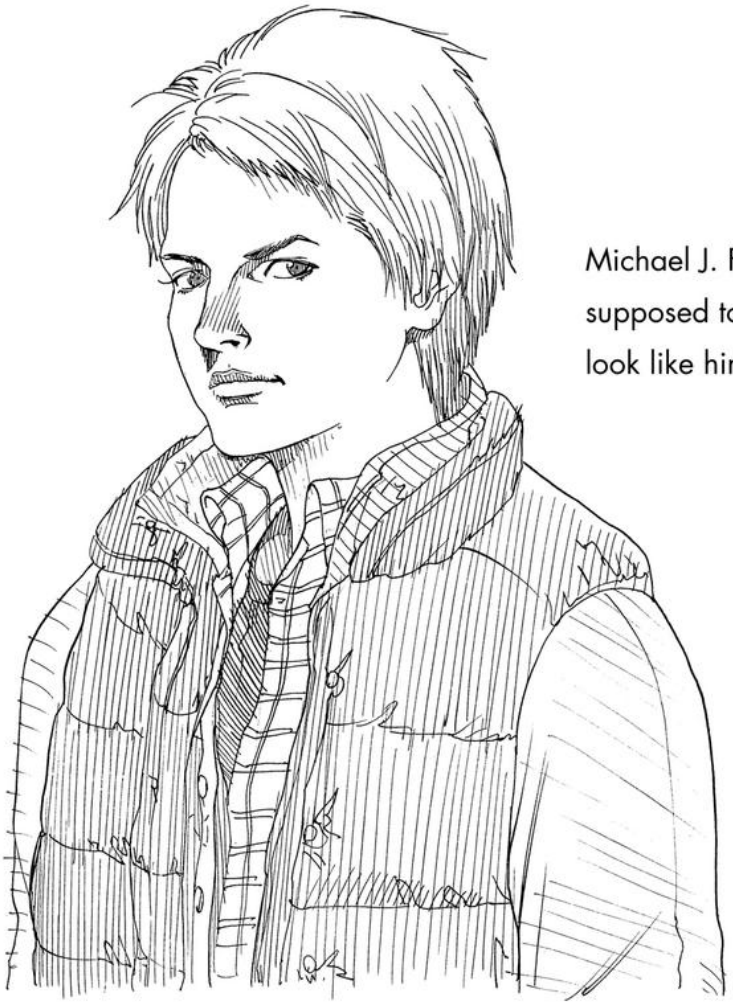
Some of you may think of it as nothing but a boring, predictable blockbuster, but I could watch it a dozen times and never get tired of it.

I waited a whole year for it to open in Japan, and by the time it did, I knew the entire plot and had even seen several scenes. I still went to see it first thing in the morning on opening day and thought it was the best movie I'd ever seen.

It was like I felt everything that John McClane did. I was tense from beginning to end, and after it was over, I was so excited that I just had to tell somebody about it.

What got me the most was the plot.

Just as an off-duty cop arrives at the skyscraper where his wife works (her company is having a party), the building is taken over by a terrorist group. The off-duty cop just happens to avoid being noticed by the group and begins his lone fight against them. I seem to have a soft spot for stories that feature a single person battling large groups against all odds.



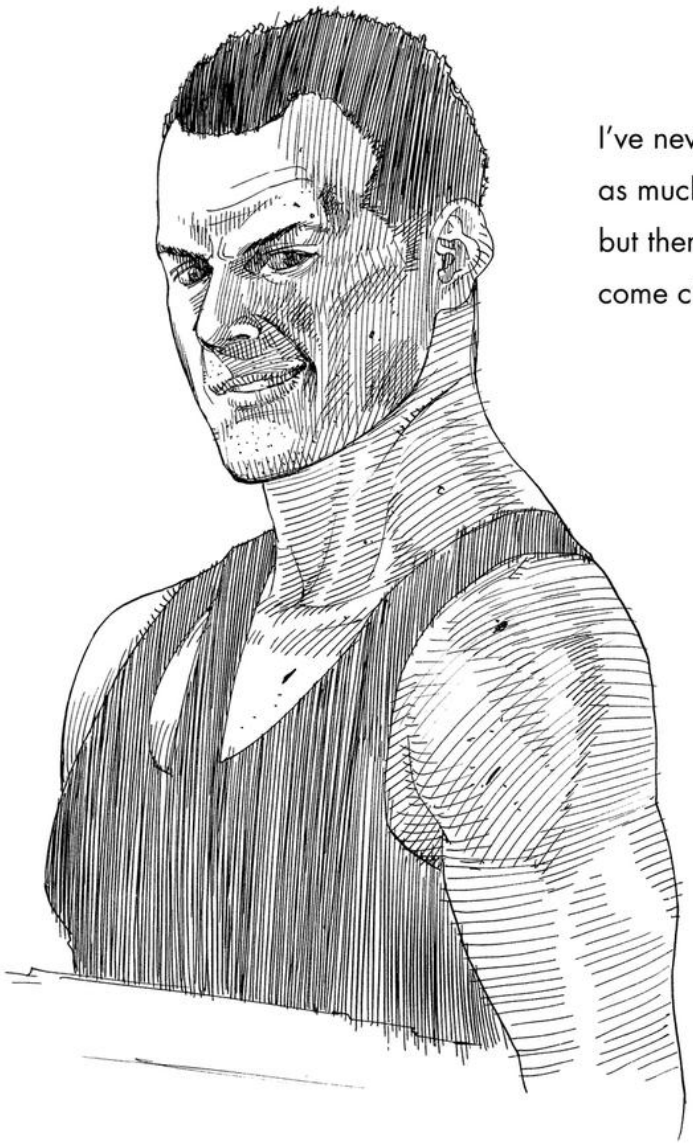
Michael J. Fox, or at least it's supposed to be . . . Doesn't look like him at all.

MY #2 FAVORITE IS

BACK TO THE FUTURE

This movie came out in Tokyo when I was about eighteen, and it was the first movie I rented with my membership at the video-rental place. I watched it on a 16-inch TV. I started out lying on my side, but it was so exciting that I gradually moved closer and closer to the TV and ended up sitting on my knees with my nose practically on the screen.

Even though it was only a 16-inch TV, I laughed, watched nervously, was surprised, and even cried at the end. It really taught me just how interesting movies can be.



I've never seen anything that excited me as much as Die Hard or Back to the Future, but there have been some movies that have come close.

Alien, Aliens, Jaws, Dawn of the Dead, The Thing, Terminator, Mad Max, Jurassic Park, The Professional, Nikita, Independence Day, Robocop, The Matrix . . . These are all blockbusters that I'm sure everyone's heard of.

Other ones that I like that are a little lesser known (even though they were made by the major studios) are:

Fright Night, Judgment Night, Blade, The Abyss, Mulan, Predator, Predator 2, Gattaca, The Dead Zone, Pitch Black, Enemy at the Gates, From Dusk till Dawn, Galaxy Quest . . . The list just goes on and on.

AMONG RECENT MOVIES, I'D HAVE TO SAY MONSTERS, INC. AND SHAOLIN SOCCER.

I didn't really care for Lord of the Rings or Harry Potter. The visuals were nothing new and the scripts kinda sucked.

Lord of the Rings is for role-playing geeks and Harry Potter is for children. I'm neither, and they just made me sleepy.

GANTZ
OMNIBUS / 2

Consisting of ordinary Tokyo citizens resurrected from death, the Gantz team is conscripted by a mysterious black orb to fight bizarre, deadly aliens in a lethal game that promises a return to normal life . . . or oblivion. But the game's purpose is unclear, and the stakes are far greater than survival!

A disturbingly realistic science-fiction horror epic, Hiroya Oku's Gantz took Japan by storm, spawning an anime series, live action films, and video games. Visually stunning and explicitly adult, Gantz is not for the kids or the squeamish! This value-priced volume features over 650 pages of carnage, carnality, and craziness!

"Bold, shocking, and entertaining."
